Introduction:1. The workshop aims to share:

- The practices of developing and promoting agri-food education.
- The idea of women's self-awareness and lifelong learning.

2. The workshop focuses primarily on policy issues in order to assist partner countries in developing and implementing agri-food education programs and promoting gender equality and the empowerment of women.Agenda:

- Indoor lectures: Topics include overview of policies of agri-food education development in Taiwan, case studies on agri-food education, strengthening of women's empowerment, and food culture education.
- Field trips: Including National Nei-Cheng Junior High School, National Guan-Tian Elementary School, Green Living House and Great-life-time Farm.
- Hands-on activity: Learn about implementation of food education and participate in a cooking class.
- Exchange platform: Roundtable forum on women's development with agri-food education members; participants also need to present their accomplishments after having a common understanding on capacity building in agri-food education through group discussion.
