Introduction:

Gender-related issues are appearing as major research subjects with increasing regularity, and the enhancement of women's abilities, status and development through gender mainstreaming has similarly become a focus of executive policy within international organizations. This workshop will share knowledge of Taiwan's gender equality legislation and women's development issues in economics, social welfare, health and personal safety. Participants will also visit governmental institutions and NGOs involved in women's development, as well as meet outstanding female entrepreneurs, to exchange viewpoints and gain a further understanding of executive strategies.
