11 Information Security and Misinformation Identification Training Course

Class Time
4 September – 9 October, 2024

Application deadline
25 July, 2024

Training Offered in English and Spanish

TAIWAN ICDF

Invitation Required: Through the R.O.C（Taiwan）embassies, representative offices, or Taiwan technical missions.

Introduction

In order to prevent the repeated occurrence of fraud on online commerce platforms, fake investments, and false information, this Training Course will focus on professional training in relations to cybersecurity. We prioritize vocational and technical personnel, of whom should possess to enhance the quality of a country's information security protection and promote industrial development.

Course Arrangement

169 hours of training in total, combined with academical subjects and practical skills training.
1. Academical subjects includes: Basic Network, Intrusion Lab Setup, Introduction to Cybersecurity, Assets Management and Cryptography.
2. Practical skills training includes: Security Vulnerabilities, Threats, and Countermeasures, Penetration, System and Web Service Protection, Physical Security, Controlling and Monitoring Access, Secure Network Architecture and Components and Forensics and Fake News.

Eligibility

- Instructors for governmental information vocational or training programs. Employees in associations or organizations related to the information, cybersecurity or engineering industries.
- Young people with a university degree or above in information engineering, computer science or information security.

Contact Person

Tingyu Lin
Tel: 2888-6145
Email: ty.lin@icdf.org.tw